Improved Aboriginal Health Practitioner provisions

The following improvements which address UV claims, and have been discussed during bargaining, include:

NEW and improved classification structure for Aboriginal Health Practitioners. An improved career structure will be introduced to provide leadership and management recognition to roles and enhance career pathways for Aboriginal Health Practitioners. Mercer have been engaged as an independent expert in career structure evaluations. They will assess current levels, consider the key duties/work value and undertake a comparison across other jurisdictions to provide advice on an improved structure. The revised classification structure will be finalised in consultation with United Voice and AHPs. It is proposed that, if in-principle agreement is reached on bargaining matters for a new agreement, a staff ballot will be conducted when the revised structure is finalised.

The parties commit to continuing work after the revised classification structure is introduced to:

- Finalise a relevant career structure for AHPs introducing leadership and management roles
- Develop a transition plan for how existing AHPs move to the new classification structure
- Investigate an Exemplary Practice Scheme
- Explore the introduction of a trainee and graduate program following the development of a trainee framework
- Explore a Pay Progression Scheme for Senior AHPs (same as the Senior Administrative and Senior Professional roles)

Review language and interpretation skills: In bargaining the parties acknowledge the varied level of language, knowledge and skills across the workforce. The parties need to assess the current duties expected in the AHP roles and explore outside of the enterprise agreement, what may be required to build confidence in interpreting and upskilling AHPs through training or relevant courses that are available.

NAIDOC Day: under Cultural and Ceremonial Leave the importance of NAIDOC day will be recognised. Aboriginal Health Practitioners who wish to partake in activities associated with NAIDOC Day may require more time off than just their lunch break. Requests to work additional hours to enable sufficient time off in lieu or flextime credits to be accrued to cover this period should be reasonably considered and supported. A separate clause will be inserted into the new agreement to provide clear guidelines on the availability of and accessing, flexible work arrangements.

NEW Professional Development Allowance: The introduction of a Professional Development Allowance to assist with Aboriginal Health Practitioner's professional development. This allowance could be used to assist employees attend conferences, seminars, registration fees etc. The criteria would be as follows. If an employees has:

- 1 – 3 years continuous service as an Aboriginal Health Practitioner – up to $300 per annum; or
- 3 years or more continuous service as an Aboriginal Health Practitioners – up to $500 per annum

Key Benefits of this scheme are:

- The allowance is payable for the professional development activities such as fees for professional courses, tuition, conferences, fees for professional bodies where eligibility for membership is essential for professional registration, subscription to technical/business publications and the purchase of technical books.
- An advance payment may be considered at the employee's request where the employee is required to meet substantial costs in advance for an approved professional development activity.
- As part of the performance planning and review process, an employee and their manager may agree to forward plan a professional development activity that may incorporate more than one year's allowance.

This allowance will be adjusted annually in accordance with the annual wage increase. It is also anticipated parties will review this allowance no later than 2 years after the commencement of the enterprise agreement or later if agreed to ascertain the uptake rate and if the rate set is reasonable.

NEW AHP Joint Consultative Committee: The parties agree to establish a consultative committee made up of union and departmental representatives to consider departmental wide issues affecting the AHP profession.

- Many of the matters raised by the union that are operational matters will be addressed through the establishment of a new Joint Consultative Committee to discuss and monitor operational issues relating to Aboriginal Health Practitioner profession on an ongoing basis during the life of the agreement.
