Managing Self Managing the Business Managing the Team

Overview

The perfect kick-start to your management career, this course will ensure a smooth transition from teammate to highly capable and successful leader. Examining ways to build credibility and trust, you'll discover how to cultivate positive workplace relationships, provide direction, motivate your team and monitor performance effectively with clear objectives in mind. You'll also gain the skills to help you respond to changing circumstances and overcome challenging situations.

Focusing on developing the skills and qualities required for self-leadership, leading others and leading performance, you'll learn tools and techniques to progress in your leadership career. You will also learn about different leadership styles and practice assessing situations, so you can choose and apply 'best fit' leadership styles.

Who should attend this course?

Anyone wanting to develop their capability to effectively make the transition from an individual contributor to a team leader/manager.

Prerequisite

You will complete the DiSC Management diagnostic tool which will be emailed to you prior to the course start date.

The DiSC Management profile will help you understand the preferences you have as a manager, thereby helping you understand what you enjoy and what drains your energy when managing. The profile also teaches you how to observe behaviours in colleagues, employees and clients to recognise their DiSC styles and how to adapt your behaviour to other DiSC styles to manage more effectively.

You will also receive a questionnaire on Leadership Styles to complete and bring along with you to the training.

Middle Manager Development Framework Alignment

- Shifting from individual contributor to manager – Transformational leadership
- Impact of leadership styles on individual leadership
